Please list the Taxus (Yew) on the noxious weed list. Every part of the plant is poisonous. I had them in my yard and removed them when a dog ate part and got extremely sick.

I don't believe that yews belong on the noxious weed list. They are not harmful when planted in the right places and it does not belong on the noxious weed list. There are plenty of people who will never have wild animals in their yards that should have the opportunity to display this plant.
