Idaho CSA Directory 2015

CSA or Community Supported Agriculture is a growing trend in Idaho.

CSA's provide locally grown produce and agricultural products to their share-holders. This not only has health benefits, but economic benefits as well.

Under normal food distribution channels, farmers will receive approximately $0.16 for every food dollar spent.

With CSA's, the farmer receives 100% of the profit. CSA's not only help build healthy eating habits, but they also help keep our money in the community.

CSA's vary in the products they offer. While some grow entirely on their own farm, others will group with other farmers to bring variety and options to their CSA shareholders.

CSA's generally offer shares, in which you purchase the entire season upfront. Some offer early pay discounts, or payment plans. Some allow gift shares, and others will sell half shares, or add additional products, such as honey, flowers, herbs or garden ready starts, meat or dairy products for an additional cost.

The information in this directory has been provided by the CSA's themselves.
